FOREWORD

ACCORDING TO THE TESTIMONIES OF Christian workers and ministers, the Mennonite Yearbook and Directory is continuing to find a large place of usefulness in the Church. This year as usual the Yearbook contains many articles of value to all who are interested in the work and growth of our Church. The directories and statistical material have been brought up to date as near as possible.

Each year we plan to add a new feature or two which will make the Yearbook of greater usefulness. This year a complete tabulation of Winter Bible Schools held during 1941-2 and the publication headquarters of each Mennonite branch represented on the Mennonite Central Committee together with the official organs and their respective editors are the new features. These new features are a result of the suggestions of Bro. Clarence Fretz of Philadelphia.

It will be noticed by the tabulation, "Church Statistics at a Glance," below, that the total membership is less than in the year 1941. Usually the total membership of the Mennonite Church increases yearly from about 500 to 1,000. Many churches have gone over their church rolls and made a careful count of their membership in order that the quota per congregation for the C.P.S. work may be made accurate. This may account for the decrease.

The editor wishes to express sincere appreciation for the excellent co-operation and assistance of all church officials and others who have helped in the compilation of the statistics and articles found herein. Especially is he grateful to Bro. J. L. Horst, former editor of the Mennonite Yearbook and Directory, for his helpful advice and counsel and for the statistics which he furnished as Secretary of Statistics for the Mennonite Commission for Christian Education and Young People's Work. Any suggestions for a more useful Mennonite Yearbook and Directory will be much appreciated.

MENNONITE BOARD OF MISSIONS AND CHARITIES FOR THE YEAR 1942

By E. C. Bender, Treasurer

At the beginning of 1942 we were all greatly concerned about our missionaries in India. Japan had attacked Pearl Harbor and pushing into the Philippines, Singapore, and Burma, was threatening India. The masses there apparently were ripe for an uprising. The British officials in India were strongly urging all our missionaries to evacuate, especially the women and children. It was more dangerous on the routes of travel from India to the United States than to remain there. With all this there was a strong feeling both among our India missionaries and our folks at home that we dare not abandon the work in India and leave the native Christians struggle alone.

After much prayer and deliberation, it was thought wise for these missionaries whose furloughs were due to come home, even though it was practically impossible to send others to take their places. A safe journey was granted them and they arrived in a surprisingly short time after leaving India. Those coming home were the J. D. Graber family, the Edwin Weaver family, the Lloy Kniss family, Bro. and Sister George Beare, and Sister Sarah Lapp.

All of these with the exception of Sister Lapp, who is beyond retirement age, are making use of their furlough in further preparation and service, hoping that at the expiration of their furloughs the way will again be open for them to return to the field. Bro. Graber is completing his school work at Princeton Seminary and Bro. Weaver is doing likewise at the Biblical Seminary in New York. Bro. Kniss is serving as pastor of the Stahl Church in Pennsylvania and is also principal of the Johnstown Bible School. Bro. Beare is serving as pastor of the Los Angeles Church while he and Sister Beare are studying at the Bible Institute of Los Angeles.

The missionaries remaining are faithfully carrying on the work with the help of native workers. We are praying that after the war there will be a great expansion in our India field. The missionary families who arrived home over a year before the last party, but are not able to return on account of war conditions even though their furloughs have expired, are established in definite work in the homeland. The Friesens are serving at the Denver, Colo., Mission and Dr. Brenneman is practicing at Hesston, Kans. Dr. Brenneman is also being used in the evangelistic field.

Present war conditions have not seriously affected our work in South America. Travel is still possible between the United States and Argentina. Bro. and Sister J. W. Shank, who were home on furlough, have again returned to the field. Sister Edna Good from Waterloo, Ont., was appointed as a new missionary to the field, but because of the present difficulty of procuring entry permits for new workers to Argentina, it was considered wise for Sister Good to spend another year of preparation before attempting the long drawnout negotiations for her permit. At present there are no South America missionaries home on furlough.

The Board has been making small contributions towards the work among the Paraguayan Indians. Steps are now being taken to subsidize this work in a much larger way. This work is done by Mennonites in the Chaco.

The Board is looking more and more towards the rural field. In most cases it seems more practical for local district boards to carry on this work, but the general Board is ready to subsidize rural work carried on by district workers if such fields are deemed large enough to warrant such action. The Culp, Ark., field is worked under such arrangements. J. N. Kaufman, our president, is ready to investigate rural fields upon invitation by district boards.

The China field has been challenging us in a special way for some time. Definite action has been taken, favoring the opening of work in this field as soon as possible. The Secretary of Missionary Education is strongly urging a study of China in Mission Study Classes throughout the churches. The raising of funds for work in China is encouraged. Definite contributions are welcomed. It is hoped that funds and workers will be on hand the moment the field opens for us to enter.

Some changes have taken place in our city missions. The old Mission Home at Fort Wayne, Ind., which was quite large and needed many repairs, was sold and another comfortable home near by was bought. The exchange in physical values was practically even, but our workers find themselves much more comfortable in their new home.

We need again to call attention to a change at the Kansas City Mission. In our last year's report we mentioned the death of J. D. Mininger and the ordination and appointment of William Smith as superintendent. Bro. Smith died early in the year and since that Bro. Edward Yoder was ordained and appointed as superintendent. The Mission Home was moved from 2409 Farrow Avenue to R. 2, 46th and Powell. The Farrow Avenue Home is still owned by the Board, but will be sold if it is finally decided wise to continue at the new place.

Recently a mission home has been purchased at La Junta, Colo., for our Mexican workers. Bro. and Sister David Castillo who have been working this field and living at Cheraw, Colo., have now moved into this new home.

The folks at Denver have now organized into a regular congregation and have purchased a building and converted it into a place of worship. We feel that the Denver brethren are demonstrating what could be done in other cities also.

Turning to our charitable institutions, we wish to mention that the Ohio Old People's Home is entirely completed, furnished, and free from all debt. Both this home and the Old People's Home at Eureka, Ill., are filled to capacity. The number of children at the West Liberty, Ohio, and Kansas City children's homes is larger than usual. At present the Kansas City Children's Home has the largest enrollment in its history.

During the year a definite study has been made of the needs of the La Junta Hospital and Nurses' Training School. It is quite evident that the time is here for enlargement of this work both in Hospital and Nurses' Home. Final decisions are pending further investigations.

Our foreign relief work is carried on through the Mennonite Central Committee. Each month our sendings are $3,000 plus all the contributions received from our Amish brethren. Of this amount $500 is used each month for relief work in Paraguay. Special relief to the amount of several thousand dollars was given to the Goshen, Ind., and Hesston, Kans., regions on account of tornadoes.

The largest present work in cost is the Civilian Public Service. This is a war emergency which has been met nobly by our people. The work began early in 1941 at an approximate cost of fifty cents per member for eight months and has now grown to an approximate cost of fifty cents per month per member. It is hoped that, even though more and more of our boys will be called into service, there will be openings for detached service for many of them so that our operating cost will not rise much more.

We are glad to report that even though large sums of money are required to carry on these emergency projects, our people have in no way fallen down on their regular mission contributions but in many cases have been increasing. We are praying that when these emergencies are lifted, the large contributions will continue for the spreading of the Gospel.

THE INDIA MISSION

By J. D. Graber

There is no passage of Scripture that expresses more accurately what I feel about the Mission in India during the past year than Psalm 138. The keynote is praise. Then follow worship, a consciousness of answered prayer, faith in the continuing power of the Word of God to convert men, His directing hand over the affairs of nations, His succor and salvation in time of trouble, and, in the end, a prayer that God may not forsake the works of His own hands. The past year has been a disturbed year with many uncertainties, but God has marvelously provided in every emergency so that we can look back with grateful praise and thanksgiving.

The greatest disturbing factor in the early part of the year was the threatened Japanese invasion. There is no doubt now that those in authority in India were certain last March and April that the Japanese would attempt an invasion. It is also clear that they were not very confident as to the ability of India successfully to resist such invasion. Dhamtari was listed in a No. 1 precaution zone, for it was feared that part of the invader's plan would be to use the east coast port of Vizagapatam for a landing and then drive inland to cut vital communication lines and attack the Calcutta industrial area from the rear. When, in due course, the port of Vizagapatam was subjected to aerial bombardment, it looked like the inevitable softening-up process that precedes a landing operation. The main road from this port to the heart of India passes through Dhamtari; so we had visions of mechanized forces rolling through our town with, perhaps, little advance warning.

What, exactly, to do and how best to conserve the work of the Church in such an emergency naturally gave us much concern. But God was gracious. The invasion was not attempted and to this day the calamity has not occurred. In this we see the hand of God and we thank Him.

There was also the decision to be made during March and April as to whether any missionaries should proceed on furlough. The American Consul "urgently advised" Americans in India to take, what might be, the last opportunity to leave. There was no contemplation of deserting the work and the people in a time of danger, but it was finally decided by the Mission that some cognizance should be taken of the Consul's urgent advice. We did not know, nor do we know yet, what the future will bring forth and to what extent civilian nationals might be a serious embarrassment to our government that assumes the responsibility for our safety. So the decision was made that those whose furloughs were due or would fall due within the year should go. As a consequence nine missionaries with nine children returned home in midsummer. Again God was gracious and His protecting hand was over us on the long sea voyage.

At the present time there are twenty missionaries with sixteen children on the field in India. They are somewhat shorthanded, to be sure, but the work is being carried on more or less normally. There can naturally be less concentration of effort, and Indian brethren and sisters must be given more responsibilities and duties. This latter may even be a blessing in disguise.

There have also been anxious months in the latter part of the year. Early in August the Independence party under the leadership of Mr. Gandhi released a civil disobedience campaign aimed at forcing Britain to grant India full independence now. There was consequently much disorder and bloodshed. Again God watched over His own and none of our missionaries or Indian brethren were harmed. At Kodarma (Jhumri Telaiya), however, the post office and the railway station were damaged by fire set by unruly mobs. One of our mission bungalows, occupied by the M. C. Vogt family, is located just across the street from the damaged post office building. There was no damage done to our property, but in a neighboring mission a bungalow was burned to the ground.

During the year there was also illness in the mission family. Particularly, Bro. G. J. Lapp suffered seriously from a stroke. But we again thank God that from latest reports he is making a good recovery.

The threatened invasion, the internal troubles, impending famine, and the uncertainties of the future have driven the Church in India closer to God. The Gospel has been proclaimed by word of mouth and through the witness of loving service. Some have responded but many have allowed the Word of Life to pass by unheeded. The future holds many uncertainties and may bring with it serious problems, but our trust is in God. The work in India is His and "He will not forsake the work of his own hands." India may be closed to the Gospel in the coming years, but the possibility of its being wide open to evangelism is just as great. We should look now toward an expansion and an enlargement of our commitments in India as soon as the way reopens. May God haste the day.

ARGENTINE MENNONITE MISSION

By Nelson Litwiller, Secretary

"Bless the Lord, O my soul: and all that is within me, bless his holy name. Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits." We make the psalmist's words our own, for in spite of all that has taken place during the year we gladly confess that His benefits remain uppermost in our hearts and memories.

The year has slipped by so quickly. I shall not report as in other years on the routine work of the Mission and the workers. Our Orphanage, churches, Sunday schools, Bible School, Printery, evangelization, tract distribution, young people's activities continue in the name of Christ and for His glory. In some places progress is more visible than in others, but the Lord gives the increase. We never know what fruit the sale of a New Testament or a Gospel, the gift of a tract, or a conversation may bring years after. There have been such wonderful results in the least thought of places and efforts.

Some of our readers may not realize the geographical dimensions of our Mission. From Buenos Aires to Santa Rosa is over 360 miles, while our Cordoba stations are about five hundred miles north of the work in the province of Buenos Aires. For this reason, we were glad to initiate our evangelistic campaigns with three new tents, one in the Cordoba district and two in the province of Buenos Aires. This work was blessed. The Gospel was preached to thousands and seed was sown in new places.

Argentine Mennonite Mission

Most of the workers have enjoyed very good health and are faithful in their daily duties. Bro. and Sister S. E. Miller have taken their first year language exams and undoubtedly will soon be in the harness. Bro. and Sister Luayza have moved to a suburb of Buenos Aires, Ramos Mejia, where a new work was started. Bro. Lauver is slowly recovering from an attack of rheumatism and a run-down nervous condition. The writer has almost fully recovered from a serious sinus operation after continual post-operation treatment for the most part of a year.

The Mission is glad for the visitors that drop in from time to time. Mr. J. Merle Davis, from the International Missionary Movement, studied our work and discussed it with our missionaries and undoubtedly some reference will be made to this of his observations in the book he will write on the South American republics.

Dr. John Schmidt and Vernon Schmidt visited a few of our stations.

Some of the missionaries were in Buenos Aires to greet Bro. and Sister Elmer Martin en route from Pennsylvania to Paraguay. Undoubtedly when the Pan-American highway becomes a reality we shall have the privilege to entertain many more brethren and friends from the homeland.

We thank God for His care during these troublous times. In spite of the fact that we are in a state of siege, and at times it seems the government is very lenient with certain subversive elements, yet we are at complete liberty to worship and preach. At our last conference a telegram of thanks was sent to the President, Dr. Castillo, which was duly acknowledged. We thank God for our young people and the coming generation of believers. We are grateful for the brethren and sisters at home, for their prayers and offerings, and interest. We appreciate the fact that from year to year the Mission Board grants the budget that we present.

There always have been and undoubtedly there always will be problems that need to be solved. One of the questions that has been confronting the Mission is a new constitution. As the national church grows, and as there are more native workers, more responsibility must be given to our Argentine brethren. The first constitution had not made sufficient provision for this transition period. Pray that we may be guided to draw up a workable constitution for the good of the work in general and that all concerned may co-operate harmoniously for the welfare of the Church. Pray also for our young people and for the forthcoming Young People's Retreat and Short Term Bible School. It is planned to have a Young People's Retreat every other year and the General Conference in the intervening years. Pray also for our Bible School, the students, the teachers, for the Orphanage and those in charge. Pray that Spirit-filled workers may be called forth, for there are still many unoccupied towns and congregations without a resident pastor. Pray that the Argentine Church may see the need more and more for assuming financial responsibility. Pray that Argentina may have a genuine revival.

CIVILIAN PUBLIC SERVICE AFTER A YEAR OF WAR

By Harold S. Bender
Chairman of Peace Problems Committee

Although the Civilian Public Service Program was set up and inaugurated in May 1941, eight months before the United States entered the war, the real test of the program has come in the year since that time. Before Pearl Harbor we had military service in peace time; since then we have had training for immediate warfare. What the reaction of the country would be to C.P.S. under wartime conditions, was a great uncertainty; how the young men of the Church would stand the test of wartime was a question, and how the Church would respond to the greatly increased demands for financial support was also to some extent an unknown quantity. Some persons, both in the Church and in the government, doubted that church organizations were capable of administering an extensive C.P.S. program. A year of C.P.S. in wartime has given us the answer to these questions, and we are glad to say that the answers are, on the whole, good and satisfying answers. Let us consider the results of the test.

First, the reaction of the nation to the C.O. problem in wartime. On this point we are glad to note that, surprisingly, to date there has been no serious opposition to the solution of the C.O. problem by means of the C.P.S. program. Some groups have passed condemnatory resolutions, but there is a gratifying absence of the hysteria of World War I, and of the grave tension between the nonresistant elements of the population and those who support the war. This may be due in part to the fact that the C.P.S. program keeps the C.O.'s out of the army, and largely out of sight, but also probably to the constructive way in which the peace churches have dealt with the problem, particularly by carrying the entire cost of the maintenance of the C.O.'s in the C.P.S. camps.

Second, the way in which the young men of the Church have met the test of the draft. To date almost 2,500 Mennonite men of all branches have been inducted into Civilian Public Service through the draft, which means an average of approximately one in fifty members. This means much, but unless we know how many of our drafted men have entered the army, either in combatant or noncombatant capacity, it does not tell the whole story. The Peace Problems Committee is taking a census of drafted men, and while the final results are not yet ready, it now appears that at least 15 per cent of our own men are entering the army, or about 300 men to date. This is serious enough to destroy any complacency that we may have.

Third, the response of the Church in support of the C.P.S. program. When the first quota call for C.P.S. camp support was sent out, we asked for fifty cents per member for six months, later extended to eight months This seemed a light load. Gradually, as the number of men in camp has increased, the cost of the program has risen so that in recent months we have had to ask for fifty cents per month per member, or at the rate of six times the first call. The average cost per man per month has declined slightly, and is now about $25 per month. Some were fearful that the Church would not meet the financial test, and there were some dissatisfied, but we rejoice at the vindication of our faith in the Church which has risen so nobly to the challenge. What the future may bring we do not know, but to date every quota call has been met, and our congregations and conference districts have uniformly done their duty. While a few of the other Mennonite branches have apparently not been able as yet to meet their quotas, the entire cost of the C.P.S. program to date has been met, and we look forward with confidence to the future. The total quota calls to date have been $4 per member, which means slightly more than $200,000 from our branch of the Church from the beginning, May 1, 1941, to December 1, 1942. The total paid by all the co-operating groups has been about $450,000. The monthly cost of the C.P.S. program now runs at $60,000, of which we pay about $25,000.

Fourth, the administration of the camps. Inasmuch as Selective Service requested a unified administration of C.P.S., and the historic peace churches (Mennonites, Brethren, and Friends) were the only ones ready to undertake the task, the relationships between the churches and the government have been handled through a National Service Board, on which the Mennonite representative has been the secretary of our own Peace Problems Committee, Orie O. Miller. It seemed best for the various Mennonite branches to work through a common administrative agency in operating Mennonite camps; so the Mennonite Central Committee was chosen for this work. On this agency, the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities appoints two members (S. C. Yoder and H. S. Bender now serving), and the Eastern Mennonite Mission Board appoints one (Henry F. Garber now serving). Orie O. Miller serves as a member-at-large. This agency administers at the present time (January 1943) twenty-three camps, five hospital units, and several smaller groups of C.P.S. men. In these camps are approximately 2,261 Mennonites and 270 non-Mennonites. It has not always been easy to find men properly qualified in spiritual attitudes, executive abilities, and general experience and training, to serve as camp directors, but on the whole we can be grateful for the efficient and satisfactory way in which the work in this new and untried field has been carried forward. Mistakes have been made, and we trust lessons learned, which should strengthen the work in the future.

While the Mennonite Central Committee has no direct responsibility for the work which the men in C.P.S. do, since this is directed by government technical men, whether in forestry, soil conservation, or similar government bureaus, it has the full and exclusive responsibility for directing the life of the men in C.P.S. outside of working hours. It is in this area that the greatest need, the greatest opportunity, and the greatest danger lies. In the morning hour before the day's work begins, in the evening hours after work, and on Sunday, come the opportunities to provide a program of religious, educational and recreational life, which will mean the most in the enrichment of the lives of all of our campees. This is particularly true in the deepening of convictions, the growth of Christian experience and character, and in the preparation for greater usefulness in the home, in the home community, and in the Church, and the work of the Kingdom. The camp director is responsible for spiritual life and general camp discipline, but in every camp he has been given an assistant director who serves as educational and recreational director, a matron who serves as housekeeper and camp mother, a business manager who handles camp financial operations, and a dietitian-cook (sometimes a nurse). Of these assistants only the matron and the dietitian-cook are hired from the outside; the others are campees who serve without pay. The camp life program includes regularly organized educational classes on two days per week, a weekly prayer meeting, Sunday morning and evening services, and privileges for wholesome Christian recreation and social life. Strong emphasis is placed in the educational program on Mennonite faith and principles together with Mennonite history, Bible study, and other courses for personal development and general learning. Provision is made for special religious services such as spiritual life meetings. It is the hope of the entire organization from the executive secretary of the M.C.C. down to the last member of the camp staff, that each boy who comes to camp may find his months (or years) of C.P.S. service one of the richest periods of his life, and may grow thereby into finer Christian manhood and greater usefulness to Christ and the Church, as well as to develop greater appreciation of our Mennonite heritage of faith and life and a deeper conviction on the principles for which the Church has stood through the centuries.

ANOTHER YEAR OF RELIEF WORK

By Grant M. Stoltzfus

One can better appreciate the difficulty of the past year's relief work by keeping in mind that this ministry in four countries of three continents was carried on against the background of a global war. Despite the spread of the war, only one field, Polish relief, came to definite close when Bro. M. C. Lehman left and came to America, arriving on June 1, 1942.

A summary of the work in the respective countries is given here:

France

In southern unoccupied France an average of 7,111 people were helped each month during the past year. These people were helped in the following ways:

1. Two full-time convalescent colonies, which cared for sixty Spanish refugee children at Canet Plage and one hundred and twenty French boys at Lyon.

2. A canteen at Cerbere which fed one meal a day to forty-five children.

3. Distribution of fruits and vegetables at Banyuls and Collioure to poor families.

4. Distribution of jam and chocolate to the 20,000 school children at Lyon.

5. Individual help to stranded refugees and needy families.

This work was directed by Bro. J. N. Byler, the other workers being Bro. Henry Buller and Sister Lois Gunden, and Helen Penner who returned to America on June 1, 1942. Bro. Byler also returned to America on Nov. 29, 1942.

Bro. Byler reports that while he was in France the Mennonite Relief office received over two thousand letters of thanks, many from school children. Repeatedly these letters showed appreciation for the Christian motive behind this service.

England

In England our relief workers have rendered a valuable service in the following ways:

1. Distribution of clothing from the London depot by Bro. John E. Coffman has been continued.

2. At "Wickhurst Manor" and "South Meadow" workers and funds provided assistance to folks who were evacuees from large English cities. A home for aged and infirm evacuees—"The Woodlands"—was operated under the direction of Bro. Peter Dyck. In July 1942 Sisters Edna Hunsberger and Elfrieda Klassen, both registered nurses, and both from Canada, joined Brethren Coffman and Dyck, and are assisting in the operation of the several homes.

3. The distribution of prayer books and Bibles especially to war prisoners, together with any kind of individual help to needy individuals and families—this kind of service marked an important part of our relief testimony.

Many of the war sufferers through our workers have continually extended their thanks to the Canadian and American Mennonite contributors.

South America

For the Mennonite colonies in Paraguay two full-time workers gave of their services: Dr. John R. Schmidt served the medical needs of the Menno and Fernheim colonies. For a few weeks in April and May, Dr. Herbert Schmidt, a surgeon, and brother to Dr. John R. Schmidt, gave his service to the colonies and performed thirty-four major and four minor operations. Bro. Vernon Schmidt has given of his time to help construct a better road between the Menno and Fernheim colonies, and also assisted in the construction of a hospital for the Friesland and Primavera colonies.

Other help given to the struggling colonies was in the form of financial assistance for their Bible School, and an ample shipment of clothing which permitted distribution to every needy family.

India

The Mennonite Relief Committee of India organized by the American Mennonite missionaries began a relief ministry during the past year. For the famine and war-threatened areas a monthly expenditure of 4,500 rupees is planned. Refugees and evacuees together with poor village folk are to be the recipients of this new relief work which the Mennonite Church is carrying on in the Orient.

Clothing Donations

A report of relief work in the past year would not be complete without mentioning the sending of fourteen tons of clothing valued at $26,463. Altogether five shipments were made: three to England, one to Paraguay, and one to France. Mrs. M. C. Lehman, who is in charge of the clothing depot, reports that a continuous flow of good clothing is reaching the M.C.C. at Akron, Pa., from Mennonite sewing circles throughout the country.

Expenditures

In all, relief expenditures for 1942, including clothing, amounted to, for France, $43,720.88; for England, $65,440.37 (including over $22,000 worth of clothing shipped from Canada); for Paraguay, $19,165.43; and for India, $11,614.05.

The Future

As the war continues the Mennonite Church will continue to do its best to continue relief work where it is now being carried on, and to open new fields as opportunities and resources present themselves. While the future may have difficulties, the Church is hopeful and has an abiding faith that this testimony will continue.

ACTIVITIES OF EASTERN MENNONITE BOARD OF MISSIONS AND CHARITIES IN 1942

By Sem Eby, Treasurer

The year 1942 has left many impressions in its wake. What has been gained is a question confronting every one, those in the Church and throughout the world. With memories of the conflicts of war, which bring about sufferings of every description and which bring into jeopardy the intents of many who would desire to serve their Maker faithfully, we need to look to God and take courage. The Mission Board's whole purpose and desire is to propagate the Gospel of salvation in every way possible. God alone knows wherein we have failed. From a financial viewpoint, 1942 is the banner year in amount of contributions since its organization. A total of more than $160,000 has been received for the various activities of the Board, compared to $91,000 in 1941. Civilian Public Service Camps rank highest in amount received, being near $65,000. War Sufferers' Relief follows with over $22,000 to its credit.

The building program for the Board is about completed. The Philadelphia Colored Mission was opened for service early in 1942, with Bro. and Sister C. M. Ferster in charge temporarily while on furlough. The building has been nicely arranged and makes a splendid place for the work. The Reading, Fairview St., Mission property was purchased and remodeled and is now ready for service. It was dedicated on Dec. 13. The sister workers of Reading are located at this place. Seemingly the prolonged building program of the Board is at an end.

Bro. and Sister George Smoker, new workers to Africa, and Sister Elma Hershberger, a furloughed missionary to Africa, sailed from New Orleans on Oct. 16. At this writing they have arrived at Buenos Aires, Argentina, and are now visiting with our South America missionaries. By the time this is in hand for reading, we hope they will be on their prospective field midst their labors. Word comes from Africa of a revival in the African Church, bringing with it increased responsibilities. May the problems bring increased strength to the honor and glory of God; the constant appeal of the missionaries is "Pray for us." A cable received from them requests, "Pray for continuance of revival in Africa Church; working of the Spirit unprecedented." May the missionary spirit with Holy Ghost power be exercised in our homeland so that our prayers may really have power with God.

The new addition to the Welsh Mt. Samaritan Home makes the Home an ideal place for needy and helpless folks to enjoy life and spend their last days, and for others who are in convalescent stage it affords an opportunity to build up in a good mountain air which abounds. The space provided is already taken up and some are on the waiting list. With reluctance we give up Bro. and Sister Henry K. Hershey as superintendent and matron who have spent about nine years in the work, but who on account of physical conditions want to retire from service. At this time no one has been found to fill the vacancy.

With sorrow we submit to the calling away of two active Board members: Bro. C. H. Mosemann, an active rural mission worker located at Cocalico, and Bro. Roy E. Myer who did much along the line of packing and shipping for the outgoing missionaries; and also an aged charter member, Bro. John F. Charles, who retired from active duty some years ago. May God bless their labors, and may their lives be an incentive to us who remain on duty here. Of the twenty charter members of the Board at its organization in 1914, only four of the present twenty-six remain on duty. A mission worker, Sister C. Z. Martin of Columbia Mission, who gave a large part of her life assisting her husband, passed to her final reward during the year. She was a sister to our departed Board member, Roy E. Myer. While we miss all who have departed, we trust that their lives may speak on with a testimony for our risen Lord.

At the fall session of the Lancaster Conference the committee to look after the Jewish evangelistic work was enlarged. A growing interest is shown on the part of the Jew. Herein lies a challenge for us not to neglect the Jew through whom we received the Gospel, for unto them was committed the oracles of God. Rom. 1:16.

A gathering of new and secondhand clothing, a usual routine work of our Board for a number of years, is in progress at this time. The reports of extreme suffering from the war-stricken areas throughout the world move sympathetic hearts to respond to the calls for help. Warm clothing and shoes estimated at 6,700 pounds and valued at $6,700, including large cash contributions have been received. The clothing is assorted and packed into bales by the Mennonite Central Committee at Ephrata, from where it will be shipped into needy districts.

The future lies before us and a continuance of God's grace is ours if we continue to be faithful to God and His Word. God alone knows what shall come in the next year, but may we never give up nor faint along the way.

LANCASTER MENNONITE SCHOOL

By J. Paul Graybill, Principal

The Lancaster Mennonite School is one part of a movement within the Lancaster Conference to meet the educational problems pressing in upon its youth in the home and Church. It is part of a movement that seeks to guide our youth safely in the ways of Christian living and equip them for effective Christian service in the world. The schoolhouses that still stand at the side of a number of Mennonite meetinghouses are mute evidence of the concern of our forefathers that their children be literate. The Sunday school has shown itself an ally of the home and Church. The summer Bible school, an agency for increased Bible study, began in 1927 and has been well received by the constituency of the conference as evidenced by the enrollment of more than 7,000 pupils in 1942. The week-day Bible school is in its formative stage. Not satisfied that their children should be brought up under the teaching and influence of the public school for nine months a year for eight years of their life, various groups representing a rising sentiment in the Church and community are planting here and there Mennonite elementary schools, monuments of the continual concern of Mennonites for the proper education of their youth.

The increasing urban life of our church and the complex industrialization that has so vitally affected us have very greatly increased our educational environment. Because of the large number of our young people attending community high schools with the consequent danger to spiritual development, a rising sentiment favoring church control of education has finally brought forth what we now term the Lancaster Mennonite School.

The school is under the direction of twelve trustees elected by conference from nominations by the Bishop Board. Three bishops constitute the Religious Welfare Committee. A Supervising Committee consisting of the Principal, Dean, and Secretary-Treasurer has immediate supervision within the School. The following shows the organization for the various phases of responsibility:

Board of Trustees: G. Parke Book, Chairman; John H. Gochnauer, Vice Chairman; John R. Kraybill, Secretary; Clarence E. Lutz, Treasurer; Howard Greider, Sem Eby, Elam Stoner, Landis Brubaker, Amos Weaver, Amos Myer, Ira T. Graybill, Luke A. Hurst.

Religious Welfare Committee: Noah W. Risser, Henry E. Lutz, Amos S. Horst.

Finance Committee: Clarence E. Lutz, Chairman; Howard G. Greider, Sem Eby.

Building Committee: G. Parke Book, Clarence E. Lutz, Howard G. Greider, Landis Brubaker, Noah G. Good, Consulting Member.

Advisory Committee on Elementary Schools: G. Parke Book, John R. Kraybill, John H. Gochnauer, Howard G. Greider.

School Administration and Faculty: J. Paul Graybill, Principal; Noah G. Good, Dean; Clyde B. Stoner, Secretary-Treasurer; John S. Wenger, Edna K. Wenger, Lois N. Garber, Leah Kaufman, Matron; Anna Margie Lehman, Assistant Matron and Office Secretary; Kenneth Fisher, Student Hall Manager.

Special Bible Term Board: Amos S. Horst, Chairman; James Hess, Secretary; John R. Kraybill, Treasurer; Simon G. Bucher, J. Paul Graybill.

Administration Building of Lancaster Mennonite School

Director of Special Bible Term, 1942: Mahlon Hess.

The Special Bible Term, held the last four years at Ephrata, will hereafter be held at the Lancaster Mennonite School.

The school site and plant were bought in April 1942. Extensive repairs were done with much diligence during the summer months so that school was able to open as scheduled, Sept. 14, 1942. Cleaning up and repairs are yet being done by members of the board, brethren from the churches, and mechanics. The site, formerly occupied by Yeates School, an Episcopal school for boys, consists of eighty-five acres of land, with farm buildings, an administration building and girls' dormitory, a classroom building and boys' dormitory, an auditorium building with kitchen and dining room in first floor, a residence occupied at present by the dean and his family, and a former mess hall unoccupied at present. The campus has wonderful possibilities for development. Mill Creek runs through the property near the school buildings. Occasionally in former years in time of high waters, water got into the classroom building but the board is planning to control that situation. At the very moment as this is being written we hear on the outside the noise of a tractor scoop and trucks lowering the creek bank and forming a terrace around the classroom building. The School is centrally located within the Conference, not altogether geographically, but according to church population. It is along the Lincoln Highway just east of Lancaster less than two miles from the Mellinger's Church.

School began with an enrollment of 152 students, 65 of whom are freshmen; 12 are seniors. One more senior came in later. There are four Bible school students. In the main the students are an earnest group coming from homes who have a concern for their youth. The Morgantown, Millwood-Atglen, and Weavertown congregations are well represented; these Amish Mennonite congregations are not connected with our conference.

A four-year high-school curriculum is being offered and also one year of Bible. Application has been made for accreditment as a four-year high school.

The School seeks to maintain and promote conservative standards. Those responsible for the administration of the School and the determining of its policies are keenly conscious of the opportunities and the responsibilities in safeguarding the School. The School plans to promote a strong missionary emphasis for the sake of a Gospel testimony in the world and in order to safeguard the Church against exclusiveness.

A complete constitution and bylaws has been provided for the operation and guidance of the School.

We invite the prayers and constructive criticisms of the brotherhood for the welfare of the School.

THE MENNONITE BOARD OF EDUCATION AND ITS SERVICE TO THE CHURCH

By C. F. Yake, Secretary

The Mennonite Board of Education renders its services chiefly to the Church through the two colleges directly under its jurisdiction; these are Hesston College and Bible School, Hesston, Kansas, and Goshen College, Goshen, Indiana. These two institutions provide instruction on the high school, or academy, and college levels under Christian instructors and a Christian environment. The instruction is given with a denominational emphasis, for the schools and the Board are the direct property of the Church which supports them and which in turn expects a service commensurate to the support given. When once a college ceases to serve the denomination which renders it support, then it ceases to become a denominational college, and its usefulness terminates as a church school.

The two objectives, usually mentioned, of a denominational school are to provide academic and theological leadership—the correct and Christian kind of leadership which implies the thought of bondservice. These two objectives are attained through the educational and the Biblical departments of the school. These have been the major objectives of the schools, and incidentally the objectives of the Board itself. To these objectives, before the completion of this article, the writer wishes to add a third objective which to him seems to be necessary at this period in the history of our educational work. We have felt during the past that if our schools accomplish the above two purposes correctly, then they have attained cherished goals; and, indeed, they have done that which is very much worth while.

To obtain these objectives the schools under the Board seek to give the best kind of vocational training, to promote the finest kind of cultural development, and to foster the deepest type of spiritual growth, while at the same time maintaining the physical health of each student. This then becomes a major service of the Board of Education to the Church.

The occupational choices of the students of our schools, if the analysis of the freshman enrollment at Goshen College may be used as a gauge, is one fourth teaching, one fourth business, one tenth undecided, one tenth engineering, and the remainder scattered choices. Of the present total enrollment of 254 there are 26 students majoring in Bible. The fact needs to be kept in mind that the young people in choosing these vocations are choosing as Christians and will be rendering a Christian service in their lifework; they will not be entering a secular occupation with a secular motive solely. Those entering religious work of course have their major emphasis on church service.

It is interesting to note the extent of the religious service given by students from our schools. Through the service of its colleges the Board has given to the Church approximately 187 ordained ministers, bishops, and deacons; 63 foreign missionaries; 54 home missionaries; and 117 general church workers. These numbers do not include the large number of Sunday-school, Young People's Bible Meeting, summer Bible school, and other general church workers. They include only workers regularly stationed in church institutions.

While this number may seem small, yet from the angle of service to the Church in places where only properly trained and qualified workers can serve, it means a unique and distinct service. In this capacity, the Mennonite Board of Education holds a very important place in the Church.

Not by any means are all such trained workers included in the above register. Today the Civilian Public Service program is using a large number of trained workers. Various types of Civilian Public Service can be filled only by trained workers, and usually these workers have received their training in one of our church schools—another service which the Mennonite Board of Education renders to the Church. Provisions are being made to give special training in relief work so as to provide qualified workers for the period immediately following the war, and also to provide the present specialized occupational needs as far as they can be met.

A careful study reveals that places of responsibility in the Church are quite largely filled by trained workers from our church schools. There are of course many places filled by church workers who may not have attended any of our church schools and whose service to the Church is equally valuable. The trained and qualified workers coming from our church schools fill a place that workers without this training may not be able to fill. More and more the fact is being recognized that properly qualified spiritual young people with training in our church schools are needed to fill places of service in the Church if the growth of the Church is to be promoted properly.

The extent of the outreach of the influence of the Board may be determined from the fact that during the past eleven years Goshen College alone touched an average of about 246 full-time students, or a total of 2,711. If our other schools have done equally as well, then it is not difficult to reckon the extent of the total influence which our schools are exerting on the young people today. The service of the Mennonite Board of Education through its two schools may be measured proportionally by the direct influence which these schools exert upon the total number of young people attending. This is indeed a great service to the church.

But with the retarded success in stemming the worldly trend in the Church, and with the apparent apathy of many homes, a challenge greater than ever confronts the Mennonite Board of Education. To render its greatest and best service to the Church in the future, the writer believes that the schools will have to become leaders in maintaining the ideals of the Church, and that they dare not depend too largely upon conferences and congregations. The schools must be the standard-bearers, and the Board of Education must become the dynamic promoter of this objective.

If the two objectives stated previously, and this one, will zealously be promoted, then the service of the Mennonite Board of Education to the Church will be indeed a great blessing. And to the writer's mind the task of the Board dare not be less than this if it will render the service that it should.

EASTERN MENNONITE SCHOOL

By D. Ralph Hostetter, Director of High School

The Lord has greatly blessed Eastern Mennonite School during this past year, and we enter into 1943 with the assurance that He will continue to grant His grace in the work at this place. The present unsettled and uncertain state of affairs in the world, which has caused our government to modify many of its former policies, is reflected in our smaller student enrollment. The rationing of gasoline, the shortage of farm labor, and the call to C.P.S. camps has made it impossible for a number of young men to continue their education at Eastern Mennonite School. Nevertheless we are privileged to have with us a fine group of students who are interested in securing education under wholesome Christian influences and in preparation for definite Christian service.

The student enrollment by departments is as follows: College and Junior College Bible, 47; Junior College and Normal, 31; High School Bible, 27; High School, 178.

The building program inaugurated in the spring of 1941 has given us much needed space. We are greatly indebted to the Board of Trustees for their foresightedness, and to the many patrons and friends who have made it financially possible for us to enlarge our space and to improve our equipment. The new dormitories are occupied; the students are taking advantage of the facilities afforded by the new library, biology laboratory, chemistry laboratory, and the Industrial Arts building. Several changes in the former arrangement of rooms have made it possible to have a more commodious and pleasant dining hall, and a larger physics laboratory, which now occupies two rooms instead of one.

The chapel-auditorium is still under construction. It will provide several additional classrooms in the basement as well as a large assembly room for the daily chapel services. The auditorium will have a seating capacity of 1,000 on the main floor and 400 in the balcony.

In keeping with our policy of expansion and improved efficiency, a number of teachers have taken advantage of summer school. Sister Ruth Stoltzfus Stauffer, formerly instructor in Art and Home Economics, has attended Madison College during the past year and summer and is now instructor in Bookkeeping and Shorthand. The latter course as well as Business Practice are offered for the first time this year. These two courses with Bookkeeping and Typing, in addition to the regularly required courses in the high school compose the new curriculum in Business Education, which makes it possible for a student to receive a Business Course Diploma.

Sister Ava Rohrer has continued her study in Home Economics at Ohio State University. Bro. Melvin Ruth spent part of the summer at New York University in personnel work. The writer was engaged in field work in paleontology and nature study during June and July. Bro. Daniel Suter has been appointed full-time assistant in the biology and chemistry laboratories. This arrangement relieves the Director of High School of much routine work, thus allowing more time for administrative and supervisory duties.

This school has always had a deep interest in the student as an individual, having a great concern for his social and spiritual welfare and in his personal development. This interest has grown into the appointment of a Personnel Committee whose duty it is to assist the student in understanding himself and in overcoming personal difficulties. The committee also endeavors to give the student educational and vocational guidance so that he may find his place and make a contribution to the community and church where he serves.

The entire faculty is endeavoring to uphold high spiritual ideals and the best scholastic standards. Our sole objective is to serve the Church by providing an institution where our young people can secure an education that is Christian and practical.

In addition to the regular prescribed courses, Eastern Mennonite School offers a variety of wholesome religious and recreational activities. Among the religious activities may be mentioned the daily prayer circles, the weekly devotional meeting, weekly mission study classes during second semester, work at the local jail, almshouse, and churches, and the various Gospel tours. Facilities for physical recreation are provided by the athletic association. Varied activities are provided for those who are interested in stars, in birds, in nature or in writing, through the extracurricular societies. Weekly literary meetings give opportunity for the development and pursuance of literary interests.

In order to give our students opportunity to attend the spring and summer sessions at colleges which accelerated their programs, we are shortening our school year by eliminating some vacations and abbreviating others. According to our present schedule, commencement will be held on May 11, 1943.

We believe that every Christian should be interested in the cause of Christian education. This is not our work; it is your work, the work of the Church. The Church has laid upon us great responsibilities. We would be faithful and true to those who have placed us here. We ask the Lord to direct the activities of this school in a way that will save and prepare the youth of our Church for Christian service. We solicit an interest in your prayers.

THE WORK OF THE PUBLICATION BOARD

By Simon Gingerich, President

Another year has rolled around in the history of the Publication Board of the Mennonite Church. The work of the Board has enjoyed another season of the blessings of the Lord and has been progressing nicely. Previously the regular biennial meeting of the Board has been held in close proximity with General Conference, usually just prior to the meeting of said body. At a meeting held at the Lower Deer Creek Church in August 1941, it was decided to try holding the regular biennial meeting of the Board in the year alternating with General Conference. Accordingly it was arranged to hold a full meeting of the Board at the Eastern Mennonite School at Harrisonburg, Va., Aug. 22-25, 1942. This meeting was well attended by Board members and it is likely that hereafter the biennial meeting of the Board will be held in the year alternating with General Conference. The importance and broad scope of the work of the Board is reflected in the report of the meeting at Harrisonburg and should be carefully studied by every one interested in the work of the Church. Printed copies of the report of officers and editors of the Publishing House are available to anyone who desires them. The report tells the story of our present publishing work and can be had free of charge by writing to the Mennonite Publishing House at Scottdale, Pa.

This year the Executive Committee of the Board invested some of the funds of the Board in a new venture. The sum of $11,000 was paid for a farm near Clear Spring, Md., for use of the Mennonite Central Committee for C.P.S. Camp No. 24, Unit 4. The investment is considered safe and in line with the principles of the Church and at the same time is serving the Church in a general way. Other investments of the Board consisted mainly in the expansion of its retail bookstores, of which there are six in operation (including the one at the Publishing House at Scottdale). The Golden Rule Bookstore at Kitchener, Ont., is now housed in a new building 30 x 72 feet and represents an investment of approximately $25,000. Since the Board meeting the store on 119 East Lincoln Ave., Goshen, Ind., has been opened. The Secretary-Treasurer of the House reports an increase in retail sales of books over the previous year to the amount of $22,842.51.

The retail bookstores located at Scottdale, New Holland, Lancaster, Souderton, Kitchener, and Goshen, make a very convenient arrangement for these Mennonite communities and besides enable the Church to offer the highest type of Christian literature to other denominations in these communities as well as to the general public.

The Mennonite periodicals published by the house show an increase in subscriptions over last year. Including the annuals, they have reached the grand total of 317,000. This speaks well for the constituency and it is hoped that this increase will continue.

The Tract Department was given an impetus by our much interested and efficient tract editor, Bro. Geo. R. Smoker, during the last two years. He reports that the total number of tracts printed during the last two years amounted to 1,622,000 of which 1,125,000 were sent out during this period. The total amount spent for this work was $3,914.93. A new feature in process of development in this department is tracts designed for Jewish evangelism. Bro. and Sister Smoker's appointment as missionaries to Africa necessitates someone else taking up this work. The tract work merits the continued support of the Board and Church.

New publications that should find a place in the libraries of our homes, Church, and Sunday school are as follows:

Marriage, Marital Relations, and the Home, by John R. Mumaw

God and War, by J. Irvin Lehman

Mennonites in Europe, by John Horsch

The Devotional Side of Life, by Daniel Kauffman

Christ the Redeemer and Judge, by John C. Wenger

True Stories from Life, by Oscar Burkholder

The promotion of Christian literature more especially designed for the nurture, development, and establishment of Christian character and doctrine is being much enhanced by the Curriculum Committee of the Commission for Christian Education. Its detailed report to the Publication Board merits the closest study and the most prayerful consideration of every Board member so that only that which is fundamentally sound and that which will best serve the Church is produced and published for the use of the Church.

The problems of the Board may not be the same as its charter members had to cope with, however, they are the problems of the day and need our most critical attention. The constant expansion of the work of the Church in her growth calls for a corresponding expansion in her publishing interests. The reading element of the church covers a wide scope, the educated and the uneducated, those with no systematic Bible knowledge and those who have finished courses in colleges and seminaries. These conditions help to make the problems of the Board more intricate. I feel sure that it is the purpose of those responsible for the work to try to solve each problem in the light of the Gospel and to solicit an interest in your prayers and your continued support.

A REVIEW OF THE MENNONITE COMMISSION FOR CHRISTIAN EDUCATION AND YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

By Nelson E. Kauffman, Secretary-Treasurer

With the advent of complex and accelerated secular living in our day, it has become necessary for the Church to make some new ventures in her efforts to meet the increasing spiritual needs of her constituency. The major problems of spiritual life remain the same through the years because the principles of human nature continue unchanged. The temptations and snares of young life today are possibly more subtle as they present themselves in increasingly varied forms. In an endeavor to meet this situation, new and varied activities have been promoted by the Church. Practically every phase of work with which the Commission is concerned, with the exception of Sunday schools, has been developed since the turn of the century; a number have developed in the past two decades. Some of these activities tend to overlap each other and so General Conference has set up an organization to correlate them and prevent any conflicts.

The Commission is responsible for the oversight of teaching work and materials used in the congregations and home. It is not the aim of the Commission to take the initiative for local work from the home pastor or congregation, but rather to assist by preparation of materials for use by the congregation and to help to promote the work. Gathering and publishing statistics is a part of this promotional work.

Naturally this work has to do primarily with children and young people. We are concerned with the various kinds of Bible schools being used by the Church to prepare her children to meet the temptations and problems of life. In order that these schools may function to the greatest efficiency, they need to be definitely planned and correlated. This is the reason for representatives of each phase of work counseling each other and deciding upon no course of action without the approval of other representatives.

Within the past biennium the Commission has been requested to study the problem of home and social relations. The person responsible for this field of interest has been given the title, "Secretary of Home Interests." The field of spiritual, social, and marital relations within the home is to be studied so that help might be given to parents in meeting problems of this nature as they arise today.

Activities of the Church for the spiritual nurture of her young people are also a major concern of the Commission. It is the plan not only to discover through various means the actual problems of young people but also to endeavor to interpret the findings of study, and endeavor to suggest possible solutions.

The Commission seeks to be a servant of the Church. It is our aim to support the minister as the leader of his congregation, and to provide material and suggestions for any line of teaching activity which he feels necessary in his congregation. To this end the prayers and helpful criticisms of the brotherhood are solicited.

A number of district Sunday-school officers and workers were present for the semiannual meeting of the Commission on Oct. 30, 31, 1942, in Chicago. This was a means of acquainting field workers with the work of the Commission and of acquainting the Commission with the problems of the various districts. All representatives were given the privilege of expressing themselves on different problems.

During the past year the Commission has approved the Christian Workers' Training Course prepared by the Curriculum Committee and the Secretary of Christian Workers' Training. This course is to take the place of the former Teachers' Training Course. It is the hope of the Commission that our Bible schools as well as congregations and Christian workers will find this course more adequately meeting their needs.

EASTERN MENNONITE CONVALESCENT HOME

By John E. Lapp

There has been a growing conviction in the hearts of a number that the Mennonite Church should provide an institution for convalescents. Bro. and Sister Harvey Ruth, of Bally, Pa., offered their institution, called "Ruth Haven," to the eastern conferences, namely, Lancaster and Franconia conferences. A committee was appointed by the Franconia Conference who looked into their proposition and brought back a report to the executive committee of the conference. At this meeting a committee of bishops was present from the Lancaster Conference to hear the report. It was felt that an institution of this kind might better be operated by each conference separately. Since Ruth Haven is at the extreme northwestern edge of the Franconia Conference, it was felt unwise to consider this matter any further, but the committee was instructed to continue looking for a place more centrally located.

The chairman of this committee, Bro. Norman M. Moyer, was led to an ideally located place in many ways adapted for an institution of this kind. He called the other members of his committee, Brethren Elmer M. Mack and Henry M. Ruth, to go with him to see the place. Later the executive committee of the conference were called in to see the place also. From the beginning, all were very enthusiastic about the property because of its location and the type of buildings.

The home was built by a wealthy Philadelphian in 1911. He spared no money in its erection, and a very substantial brick home with twelve large rooms is the result. A large brick garage with a five-room apartment is also on the property. The surroundings are beautiful with a spacious lawn of two and one-half acres containing a number of stately trees. In every way the appearance is very impressive.

This Home is located at Unionville on Route 309, the main artery of travel from Philadelphia to Allentown, Bethlehem, and other points north. It is in the heart of the Franconia Conference, within ten miles' reach of three fourths of the conference membership.

After first impressions, the matter was further thought of and presented to the Franconia Conference in session on Oct. 1, 1942. After much discussion about the advisability of a venture like this at the present time, and the possibility of one conference carrying this work individually, the question was put to a vote. The vote was unanimous, with the exception of one conference member who remained neutral, for the committee to proceed with purchase and establishment of this institution, provided that a satisfactory solicitation of funds could be arranged. At this session of conference, two more members were added to the committee to proceed with said purchase, namely, Bro. Elwood Derstine and Bro. Wilson R. Moyer.

On Oct. 6, a meeting of the executive committee of conference and this purchasing committee was called. It was decided to plan for a solicitation of funds to take place in the month of October. The Franconia Conference constituency gave and pledged very liberally. The result is that the purchase can be made and cash be paid; however, a small portion of this amount is in the form of noninterest bearing loans given by some of the members.

A committee of three brethren was appointed to write the constitution and bylaws for the operation of the institution and application for the charter. The bylaws call for a seven-man Board of Directors to be the trustees in charge of, and responsible for, the operation of the institution. These directors shall be elected by the Franconia Conference for three-year terms. Three directors are to be elected one year and two each the following two years. The executive committee of conference appointed a board of seven men to begin the operation in the conference interim. The board members are Norman M. Moyer and Wilson R. Moyer, deacon and minister, respectively, in the Blooming Glen Church; Harvey Meyers, deacon in the Deep Run Church; Robert Souder, of the Souderton congregation; Howard D. Ruth of the Line Lexington congregation; Henry M. Ruth, deacon in the Salford Church; and John W. Kolb of the Vincent congregation, Spring City. The Board of Directors met for organization with the result that Norman M. Moyer was elected President; Howard D. Ruth, Vice President; Robert Souder, Secretary; and Wilson R. Moyer, Treasurer.

Members on the Board of Directors are all capable men. The officers have had experience which will be a help to them in the conduct and affairs of this institution. They elected Dr. Paul M. Nace, M.D., of Souderton, as the Consulting Member of the Board. The responsibilities of this Board and the consulting physician are great, but under the guidance of the Holy Spirit we expect them to conduct a noble work.

There are many unfortunate ones who need careful attention. The Church has entrusted this responsibility to others in the past. We trust that this new undertaking to relieve suffering humanity "in the name of Christ" will be a success. We do not measure success in material or monetary values, but in the amount of good that can be done "for the glory of God" and "the service of humanity." An undertaking of this kind cannot be expected to be a paying proposition, but we believe the Church will need again to draw largely upon the Treasury of Heaven and claim the promise: "But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus."

This institution will be open to convalescents (various degrees and kinds as determined acceptable by the physician and Board) of the Mennonite Church and other denominations. The capacity of this institution will be approximately fifteen unless alterations are planned beyond present anticipation. As the work grows and need calls for it, expansion can be made on the present site to care for almost any number of folks. It is hoped that competent nurses and attendants will be ready to answer the call to fill important places in the work.

While plans have not been made for the official opening of this institution, it is expected that arrangements will be completed so that accommodations will be ready by the early part of 1943. The Board of Trustees extends a hearty invitation to all to visit this institution and requests the prayers of all of God's children in behalf of this undertaking.

BRAESIDE HOME
By Angus S. Weber

The question of establishing an old people's home in the Mennonite Conference of Ontario has been in the minds of many of the members of this conference district for many years. This is evident by the fact that a fund was created a number of years ago for this purpose. This fund has gradually increased until a substantial sum of money was on hand which could be used solely for this purpose. At the same time the sentiment in favor of an institution of this kind was also growing. The cause of this may be attributed to a number of reasons.

(1) The fact that many of our church workers, after having laid their all on the altar of service and given the best years of their life to the Church, will necessarily have to be cared for during that period towards the close of their life when they can no longer participate in the activities of the Church.

(2) The experience of other conference districts which have such homes has been that there are always aged people who are childless or who for other reasons appreciate the service and are in circumstances to provide materially for their care during their declining years.

(3) The Church has a responsibility especially towards those of its members who have been financially unfortunate to the extent that they are unable to care for themselves in their old age. A home of this type is a systematic, Christian method of discharging this obligation.

(4) The Church has an obligation to the community at large. If a service of this kind can be extended to those who are not of our faith, or to non-Christians as well, what a wonderful testimony of the principle of love for others as given by Jesus Himself such an institution can be.

From past surveys and contacts which have been made, we feel that it is only a matter of our faith in the Lord and His abundant grace as to whether the needs of the present day will be recognized and met with an adequate ministry.

In these distressing days, when as a nonresistant people we are seriously misunderstood, it behooves us to testify to those who cannot see as we do that we are willing to assume our obligations in providing Christian institutions to care for our own, and others as well, instead of being a burden to those to whom we appeal for the recognition of our conscientious principles.

With these foregoing facts as the burden on the hearts of the committee in charge of investigations, a number of projects were considered. Nothing seemed to impress them seriously, however, until the institution known as Braeside Lodge Sanitarium was up for sale. This institution was formerly conducted as a rest sanitarium, being very suitably situated for this type of work. After a thorough investigation by the committee in charge and an independent inspection made by men whom the committee considered thoroughly competent in their field, together with an inspection by Mr. S. L. Charlton, Inspector of Refugees for the Department of Public Welfare in the Province of Ontario, the Committee of Investigation made a report to annual conference in session at Zurich, Ontario, June 2-4, 1942, urging that if the Church was ever going to interest itself in a project of this kind, then in the opinion of the committee this proposition should not be let pass by. The result of this report was that the conference passed a resolution authorizing the Mennonite Mission Board of Ontario to take further steps by way of purchasing, financing, and bringing the institution to a point where it will be ready for operation. This action involved the Board on two major questions:

(1) The raising of the necessary funds.

(2) Alterations necessary for the transfer of the building to its new field of service.

The first question was disposed of by a personal solicitation of our members. At time of this writing, this work has not been completed, but the response by the brotherhood thus far has been most gratifying to those in charge.

The second question, How much should be done by way of alterations, redecoration, painting, etc.? was the cause of much serious discussion by the Board.

A number of alteration projects were finally decided upon, two of which are in process at the present time.

The heating system which was equipped with a gas-burning unit is being converted to coal with the installation of an iron stoker. This was necessary due to the fact that gas is not now available for heating purposes.

A basement is being excavated under the kitchen, and the kitchen floor lowered to main floor levels. A tile floor will also replace the present wood floor in the kitchen.

If present plans materialize, redecorations and painting will be largely limited to the first and second floors.

It may well be expected that in an undertaking of this kind, there will be a number of disappointments causing some real problems. These have already been experienced. With shortage of material, limited quantities, accompanied by the necessary government priorities, the work has been most difficult to the several committees involved, the Committee on alterations and the Furnishings Committee. These committees are progressing satisfactorily in their work. We are looking forward to a completion and a possible opening in the early part of the coming year.

Braeside Home is a three-story, well-built building, equipped with all modern conveniences, hot and cold water throughout, ample amount of bathrooms, showers and tubs, and elevator accommodations; all rooms are connected to a bell system. The Home will accommodate from twenty-five to thirty inmates, plus accommodations for superintendent and help. The rooms are of various types and sizes. There are a number of outside rooms with sunrooms, making it adaptable to the various needs of the inmates. It is located on King Street, North, in Preston, making it easily accessible to visitors. The Home being situated on a slope with its spacious terraced lawns and curved walks, dotted throughout by ornamental and shade trees, makes it a very attractive and comfortable looking home for aged people to spend their declining days.

We crave your interest in prayer for the selection of superintendent, matron, and workers, and also for the completion, operation, and furtherance of Braeside Home.

ABNER G. YODER

By Daniel Kauffman

We cherish the memory of those whom we knew and loved, especially those whose record in life proved them true to God and His Word, loyal to the Church, and active in the service of God and the Church to the time when God called them to their eternal Home.

To this class belonged our brother, Bishop Abner G. Yoder, of Parnell, Ia., whom the Lord callel home July 6, 1942. As a Mennonite deacon and later as a Mennonite bishop; as an active evangelist, a member of important committees, and moderator of conferences, he proved himself a useful member of the Church and faithful worker for the Lord so long as health permitted such activities.

It was the writer's privilege to be present in two ordination services in his home church, namely, the West Union Church near Wellman, Ia. The first of these was on Sunday, Jan. 17, 1909, when he, together with Bro. W. S. Guengerich, was in the lot for minister. The lot fell on Bro. Guengerich. But this made no difference in Bro. Yoder's active life in the service of God and the Church. He had been active as a Sunday-school worker and superintendent and in other activities of the Church. It was as a servant of God, not as an official in the Church, that formed the basis of his motives and life. He was no less active as a layman than he afterwards was as an official. It was this trait of character that called forth our admiration.

The second ordination service at the West Union Church that I was permitted to witness and have a part in occurred on Sunday, Dec. 21, 1924, when our brother was chosen by lot to the bishopric. He entered immediately upon the duties of his office, yet was just as active and consecrated as he had been all along since the time in his early manhood when he accepted Christ as his Saviour and Lord and dedicated his life to the service of God and the Church. A militant conservative in doctrine and life, he had a commanding influence in his home congregation, in his home conference (the Iowa-Nebraska Conference), and in the Mennonite General Conference. As an evangelist and instructor in Bible conferences, his services were frequently sought. Free-spoken and yet tenderhearted, fearless and yet considerate in what he said, his ministry was respected and appreciated wherever he went.

As an illustration of his active life, his death occurred at the very time when he was to have been at the Alberta-Saskatchewan Conference as a representative of the General Problems Committee appointed by Mennonite General Conference. Like all other humans, he had his physical limitations. Though apparently robust in health, a perilous heart condition put an end to his active career. His last public service was in connection with the annual meeting of the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities shortly before he was stricken with his last attack of heart disease. But for this ailment, he might today be among us, battling for the Lord. And though his voice is hushed in death, the influence of his life still remains among us. May we who remain be faithful promulgators of the cause which he cherished and to which he rendered such faithful service. We mourn his passing, but we, too, rejoice in the hope that in God's own time and way we will be called from time to eternity and join in the bright reunion on the evergreen shore.

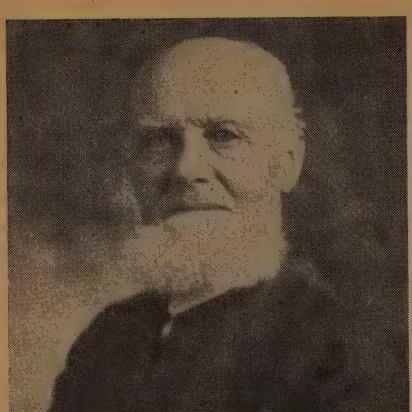
ELIAS L. FREY

By A. D. Frey

Bishop Elias L. Frey, the son of Christian and Elizabeth (Conrad) Frey, was born near Pettisville, Fulton Co., O., Nov. 2, 1856, and died March 20, 1942, on the same farm where he was born. He was the oldest son of six children, four of which preceded him in death. He is survived by his brother, J. C. Frey, Archbold, O., for many years treasurer of Mennonite General Conference. Bishop Elias attained the ripe age of eighty-five years, and up until the age of eighty had scarcely known what it meant to be sick, having lived an active and Christian life from his young manhood. His wife preceded him in death fourteen years, and the last of these fourteen years were lived in the home of his daughter (Ruth), Mrs. William Nafziger.



Bishop E. L. Frey

His parents were members of the Amish Mennonite Church, and were thrifty Christian farmers in possession of several hundred acres of land on which the boy Elias, with the other children of the family, received his home training. Though wealthy in the possession of land, the family was not rich in money. The home of Elias was of the pioneer type. According to the words of Elias himself, in wintertime as a boy he frequently crept from underneath the covers of his warm bed in the morning, which during the night had become sprinkled with snow, and stepped onto the snow-covered floor in his bare feet because the wind had blown the flakes into his room.

At the age of thirteen, his father died. Being the eldest boy in the family, the major responsibility for helping his mother operate the farm and keep the family supported fell upon his shoulders. It is not difficult to imagine what this did for Elias. Obviously through this experience much of the latent talent in young Elias was early developed, and traits of leadership and capability for management became evident, and served him in good stead in later years. Evidences of his growth and development are shown in the following interesting facts from his youth or young manhood.

In September 1880 he became a member of the Amish Mennonite Church and was baptized by Bishop Nicholas King. At that time, and prior to that time, there were no Sunday schools in the Amish Church, but Elias, even though not yet a member of the Church, took a keen interest in such type of religious work and taught a class in a Sunday school conducted by a Samuel Miller, a United Brethren, in the Dowell public school building about two miles from his home. For sometime each Sunday afternoon he served a class as teacher.

During these same years, and before being a member of the church, he also conducted a singing school in the Dowell school building. The singing school had been begun by Jacob Gasche, a German schoolteacher, and was held on a certain evening of each week. Young Elias' knowledge of music became an embarrassment to the teacher one evening, and the next week the instructor failed to appear. Thereupon the members of the class called Elias into service, who thereafter was the instructor.

Elias was married on June 9, 1881, to Anna Short of Archbold. He pursued farming as his occupation. From this union were born eight sons and four daughters, of which six sons and three daughters survive, all members of the church. Children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and those married into the family at this time number 167, a testimony of the blessing of the Lord upon his life. Psalms 127; 129.

He was called to the office of deacon on Dec. 25, 1884. At that time preaching was done mostly in German. Because of the ability of Elias to speak both the English and the German, his deaconship soon called him to preaching because of the demand of the membership. Though he was never ordained a minister, he was one of the pioneers in this type of preaching in the Church. His services were in demand among his people in Canada as well as in the United States.

On March 22, 1908, he was ordained to the office of bishop by lot, which office he filled faithfully until death, being a voice of authority in conferences and in the counsel of leaders. He had bishop oversight of the membership in Fulton County, O., and also over a number of the Amish churches in Canada. He was used frequently in Bible conferences and was a favorite instructor. He was a staunch defender of doctrine of the Church as set forth in her confession of faith, according to the Scriptures. He was chairman of the Peace Problems Committee of the Mennonite Church, and held other offices of importance at various times.

During his time as bishop he saw the old Central church house, in which he was ordained, torn down and a new brick structure 60 by 100 feet erected in its stead. Also in his lifetime two church houses were built, one west from the Central Church (Lockport), and one east (West Clinton), which attest to the growth of the membership, which at the time of his ordination was about 450 and now is over 1,400. But Bro. Frey never boasted of this as an attainment of his, but "What God had wrought." He was a profound Bible student, quite eloquent and often melting audiences to tears. He was a strong exponent of nonresistance and during the World War I, met with much opposition and many threats from war-minded people. During this time he visited the C.O. boys at Camp Sherman thirteen times as well as a number of other camps. At Camp Sherman he gained the love and respect of Captain Hough who at one time when public sentiment became quite strong against the C.O., came to Fulton County to defend him.

In 1929 he realized one of his cherished desires,—a visit to Europe, and the native spot of his ancestors in Montbeliard, France. Here his grandfather Jacob lived and his father, Christian, was born. When Christian was about 8 years old, his father and mother came to America with their one son and four daughters and were among the pioneer settlers in Fulton County, O. At Lacote, France, a village not far from Montbeliard, was the former home of the Schads (Shorts), which is the ancestral home of Anna Short, who was the wife of Elias. It is needless to say that the visit of Elias to these ancestral spots brought him great delight, and left happy memories with him until the end of his days.

He will be remembered by his children as a beloved and noble father, by his many descendants for his sagely influence, by his friends and acquaintances for his saintly cheerfulness, and by his contemporaries for courageous loyalty to the faith of the Church of his choice which he dearly loved.

DANIEL J. JOHNS

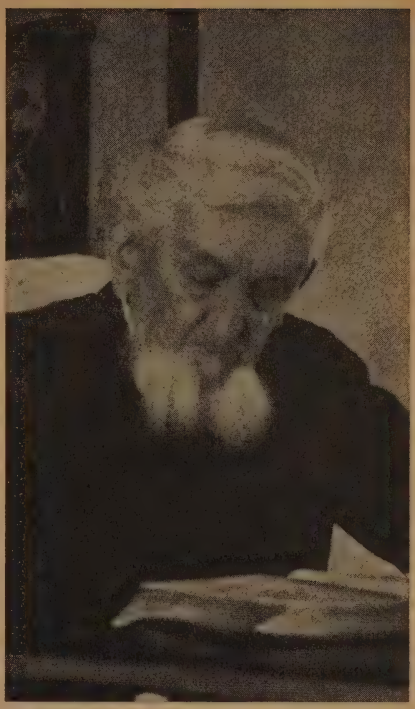
By John C. Wenger

About the year 1765 an Amish brother named Joseph Schantz or Jantz (Johns, in English), a Swiss emigrant, came to America. In Berks County, Pa., he married Veronica Holly. Later he lived in Somerset County. He laid out building lots for the city of Johnstown which was named in his honor. He died in 1810. Immigrant Joseph Johns had five children, the fourth of whom, Joseph Johns (1792-1868) was the father of eight children. The third child of Joseph Johns, Jr., was John Johns, the father of Daniel Johns, the subject of this sketch.

Daniel Johns was born in Somerset County, Pennsylvania, Sept. 8, 1850. In the fall of 1865 he removed with his parents to Lagrange County, Ind. Beginning at the age of nine he went to school several months each year. At the age of nineteen he attended the Ontario Normal School near Orland, Ind., for five weeks and was licensed to teach school. Later he took six weeks of normal school training at Bristol, Ind., and six more weeks at Kokomo, Ind. He taught school for seven years and was quite successful.

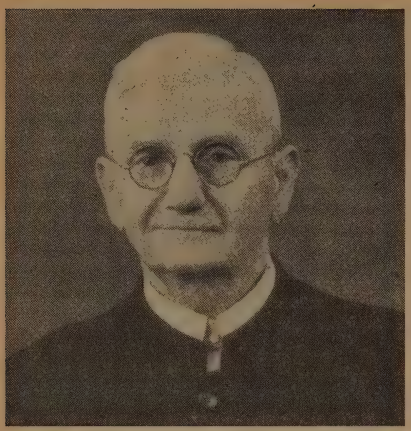
On May 6, 1875, he was married to Nancy Yoder, Bishop Eli Miller performing the ceremony. This union was blessed with six children: Elmer H., Ira S., Ora D., Luella Clara, Otis N., and Ray O. Two children, Ora and Elmer, and his companion preceded Bro. Johns in death.

In the summer of 1876 he accepted Christ as his personal Saviour and in September of that year, he was baptized by Bishop Isaac Schmucker (1810-93) of the Hawpatch congregation (Topeka), the first Amish bishop of Indiana. In 1882 the Clinton Frame congregation decided to ordain a minister. D. J. Johns was ordained on the strength of the vote of the congregation—he received eight times as many votes as the other nominees combined. Bishop Joseph Stuckey (1825-1902), a progressive Amish bishop from Illinois, ordained him to the ministry on May 28, 1882, according to the testimony of Bro. Johns. (The 1882 Herald of Truth implies that the ordination of "Bro. Daniel Tschantz" took place June 4, 1882.) At first he preached both in English and German, later in English only. On Nov. 13, 1887, Bishop Isaac Schmucker ordained him as bishop.



Bishop D. J. Johns

D. J. Johns was privileged to live through a period of great change in the Mennonite Church. During his life he saw the beginning of the home and foreign mission work of the Mennonite Church, of church schools, of Sunday-school conferences, of Mennonite General Conference, of the Mennonite and Amish Mennonite mergers, and of the various agencies for Christian education now employed in the Church. In almost every form of progressive work, D. J. Johns was a pioneer. He helped organize the Indiana-Michigan Amish Mennonite Conference in 1888. He helped arrange for the first Sunday-school conference in 1892. Along with Dr. H. A. Mumaw, J. S. Coffman, J. S. Hartzler, and about a dozen others he helped organize the Elkhart Institute Association in 1895. The three Daniels (Bender, Johns, and Kauffman) arranged for the first General Conference of 1898. He helped organize the Mennonite Board of Missions and Charities in 1906. Little wonder that in his book, The Mennonites in America (1909), C. Henry Smith listed D. J. Johns as a progressive who favored education (pp. 401, 450).



Bishop E. B. Stoltzfus

As a minister D. J. Johns was certainly the type of preacher who "wears" well. He preached sane Biblical sermons. As a sample of his preaching, the reader is directed to the message he delivered on his ninetieth birthday anniversary, Sept. 8, 1940. He was also a strict disciplinarian. One of the experiences which undoubtedly influenced him was the schism of 1892 when a portion of his Clinton Frame congregation withdrew to found the less strict Silver Street Church; this showed the young bishop where general laxity leads to when once it permeates one's thinking. As a Christian he was characterized by kindness, humility, and good cheer. I shall always be thankful for the privilege of knowing Bro. Johns, a man who was sixty years my senior in age, yet a brother in Christ Jesus.

In 1929 Bro. Johns retired to the home of his son Ira, also a minister in the Clinton Frame congregation east of Goshen. There he lived in peace and quiet until the Lord took him Home. To the end his mind seemed clear and his interest in and concern for the cause of Christ was intelligent and deep. Few indeed are the men whose ministry stretches over sixty years.

Daniel J. Johns died May 22, 1942. His funeral held May 25, was largely attended. At his request D. D. Miller, whom he had ordained as deacon, as minister, and as bishop, preached the funeral sermon in the Clinton Frame Mennonite Church.

(Based partly on Raymond M. Yoder's unpublished biography of D. J. Johns, and on C. Z. Mast's Mast Family History, pp. 717-723.)

ELIAS B. STOLTZFUS

By A. J. Steiner

Elias B. Stoltzfus was the son of the late Deacon Christian and Lydia (Beiler) Stoltzfus. He was born near Lewisburg, Pa., July 2, 1860, and died at his home near Aurora, O., Oct. 30, 1942, at the age of 82 years, 3 months, and 28 days. Bro. Stoltzfus had suffered several heart attacks the past several years, but each time he rallied again and went about his work in the usual good spirit. It was noticeable, however, that each attack left him a little weaker. On Oct. 23 while on a business trip to Aurora, he suffered a stroke while sitting on a chair in one of the stores. He was soon taken to his home where he was able to converse with the family and others, but with some difficulty due to the fact that his speech was affected. The left side of his body was paralyzed.

The writer of this biographical sketch had the pleasure to spend some time with him after he was stricken. We had an unusual visit together. Some tears were shed because he realized with us that soon he would go Home to be with the Lord. His mind was clear and active. He quoted the text he had used in his sermon the Sunday before, and gave a brief outline of his message. He then discussed with us the plans for his funeral. This conversation took place in the presence of his son and two daughters who were almost constantly at his bedside.

He was deeply concerned for the prosperity and future welfare of the Plainview congregation and revealed some of the plans he felt would strengthen the cause and work of the Church.

He was an ardent supporter of the faith and doctrines of the Mennonite Church. In the pioneer days of Sunday school and mission work of the Church, he threw himself wholeheartedly into this work. For a number of years he was superintendent of the Amish Mennonite Church at Huntsville, Ohio. After he and his family moved to West Liberty, he became superintendent of the Walnut Grove Sunday School where he served many years. For a number of years he was superintendent of South Union Sunday School also.

For some time Bro. Stoltzfus had felt that the Lord wanted him to serve in a larger capacity, but he fought these convictions until their daughter Sadie Bell was called away by death. Then, as I heard him state repeatedly, he and his faithful companion laid themselves on the altar. Soon after that he was ordained to the ministry and sent by the local Mission Board to Portage County, Aurora, O. Here where there was no church building and only a few members, conditions were generally discouraging, but he and his faithful wife and children put themselves to the task and labored faithfully with the members that were there until at the present time it has grown into a congregation of two hundred members or more.

Aug. 27, 1916, he was ordained bishop, and as years passed he became a leader in church-wide activities of the Mennonite Church. He was greatly interested in the work of the Sunday-school conference and the Ohio Mennonite Mission Board of which he was field worker for a number of years. For several years he was also connected with the Executive Committee of the Ohio and Eastern A.M. Conference. He served as presiding bishop over a number of Mennonite congregations in the district and conducted many Bible conferences and evangelistic meetings. But whatever duties the Church gave him, the interests of the Plainview congregation were always nearest to his heart.

He left the scene of his earthly career without regrets and unhesitatingly expressed himself as being ready to go, even wishing and longing to go to his eternal Home. Conference has lost a valuable worker, the congregation a loving servant, and the family a kind, endearing father.

LEWIS SHANK

By J. Ward Shank

On Oct. 14, 1942, the life labors of another of God's faithful servants were laid down. His lifetime of almost eighty-seven years, spanning the space of almost three generations, was enriched by experiences dating from the time of the Civil War until the present. Ordained to the ministry at the age of twenty-eight in 1883 and to the office of bishop in 1901, he exerted his influence in these offices for a period of almost sixty years.

Uncle Lewis, as he was familiarly called, spent his entire life in the community of his birth, Broadway, Va. He engaged in farming for a livelihood until in his later years a measure of financial independence enabled him to dispose of his farm and devote his entire time to his highest interest, the work of the Kingdom. It is the testimony of those most closely associated with him in the work of the church that the duties of the farm were never allowed to interfere with the Lord's work.

He was married in 1883 to Mattie Martin, of Hagerstown, Md. They were not blessed with children of their own, but became foster parents to two nephews who were left fatherless by the death of his younger brother John. In another sense they were Father and Mother to a host of the members of his district. The members were dependent upon them for spiritual guidance, advice, and assistance of all kinds. As counsellors their help was sought and appreciated. They kept what some call an open house. It was a place of hospitality where all who knew them felt free to enter. Hundreds recall the tasty meals served there.

They were known as a very devoted couple. Following the death of Aunt Mattie in 1934, it was touching to witness the sorrow of Uncle Lewis. Life had lost much of its zest and attraction to one who had always lived a meaningful life. From that time until his death he often feelingly referred to heaven and the reunion there.

Uncle Lewis was pre-eminently a pastor. He had an ability and a manner of entering into the interests and lives of his people that many covet. During his active ministry he called most of the membership by name, and held in mind their individual interests and relationships. With his companion, he aimed to visit each home in his district at least once every year.

Within his lifetime the church of his district experienced a remarkable growth. From a membership of less than three hundred at the time of his ordination to the ministry, it had increased to over eleven hundred by the time of his death. This district was known as the Lower, and lately as the Northern District of the Virginia Conference. It embraces the northern part of Rockingham County, Va., part of Shenandoah County, Va., and extends into the adjacent counties of West Virginia. In his early labors, outlying parts of this territory were served by horseback trips often requiring three or four days. Later horse and buggy were used almost exclusively.

These then gave way to the automobile. It may be said that Uncle Lewis literally wore out saddle and buggy and automobile in this work.

In the time of his early ministry perhaps the greatest stress was placed on the pastoral contacts for the spiritual welfare of the flock. Before the advent of the automobile more time seems to have been given to leisurely and intimate association between pastor and people. Appreciations are still being voiced for the extended visits of the ministers in the homes of a few years ago. Out of this background grew his interest and proficiency in pastoral nurture.

Later, with the aid of the automobile, a corps of workers has been laboring side by side with the ministry in conducting mission Sunday schools throughout this territory, and still more recently summer Bible schools. Uncle Lewis supported these forward steps in the work, but often expressed himself in a way that indicated his feeling that great emphasis and dependence should be continually placed on pastoral activity.

He was a good conversationalist. What he had to say was interesting and worth while, and was often enlivened by a sly humor. Total strangers would soon be at ease with him. Many interesting experiences were related to the writer of chance contacts he had with strangers in his travels. Perhaps hundreds of marriage ceremonies were performed by him. His free and easy manner, and casual conversation placed these couples at ease from the tension natural to the occasion. His pulpit manner was not spectacular. Even there he maintained the conversational atmosphere, thus bringing his message more readily to the hearts of the congregation.

In dealing with erring members he was motivated by love. His approach was to sit down and talk things over, get near to the heart of the transgressor, and then lead out to higher ground. He often stressed that the end of disciplinary action is for the salvation of the soul.

Members of the Northern District feel that a great heritage of faith and living has been left them by Uncle Lewis, his predecessors, and his co-workers. We sense the challenge to carry on in the spirit in which they labored.

"One soweth, and another reapeth. I sent you to reap that whereon ye bestowed no labour: other men laboured, and ye are entered into their labours" (John 4:37, 38).

SAMUEL GRANT SHETLER

By Lloy A. Kniss

With the passing on August 11, 1942, of our beloved Bro. S. G. Shetler, at the age of seventy-one, the Mennonite Church suffered the loss of one of her most energetic and successful evangelists and Bible teachers. His passing left a vacancy in the lives of many intimate friends, and many had looked to him for spiritual guidance. Someone has said since his death, "There will never be another S. G." God graciously prepares individuals to be just the right kind of servants for the particular time in which they live. We believe our departed brother was just such a gift from God. He was the possessor of some unique qualities as a preacher and a Bible teacher. He was a favored friend of the young people of the Church and community. He was very active and untiring as a worker. His collapse which led to the end came while he was conducting a service one evening. He was not able to conclude the service but was taken to the home of Bro. Roy Kinsinger in Grantsville, Md. From there he was later taken to his own home near Johnstown, Pa., where he answered the summons.

Bro. Shetler resided nearly all of his life in Somerset County, Pa., just near to the place where he was born. He, with his family, had also moved to the state of Oregon, to labor in the Pacific Coast Conference District, three different times, totalling about three years. He united with the Mennonite Church by baptism on Dec. 13, 1892, in the Stahl congregation near Johnstown, Pa. Bro. J. N. Durr baptized him. He was ordained as a deacon on May 20, 1894, and as a minister on April 18, 1897. Bishop Jonas Blough officiated at both ordinations. He was ordained to the office of bishop at the Hopewell Mennonite Church near Hubbard, Oreg., on Feb. 28, 1915, when Bishop Brenneman, J. D. Mishler, and J. P. Bontrager officiated.

Very few men in our church travelled in the United States and Canada more than our brother had. He was used in many churches in evangelistic meetings. He witnessed the conversion of many souls as he preached the Word with power. He also conducted many special short term Bible schools in different congregations throughout the church. The school at his home congregation (the Johnstown Bible School) was founded in 1920 and is still being conducted by the conference of the district.

Bro. Shetler was also one of the pioneers and energetic promoters of summer Bible schools in the Mennonite Church. He was very active in this work and conducted many of these schools himself. He was very apt with children and successfully conducted hundreds of children's meetings with object lessons and talks. He and his son Sanford together composed a book on object lessons for children's meetings. He was very much interested in what is generally termed mission work and he helped in establishing many mission Sunday schools. One of the last projects he was able to finish was the building of a small church house at Walsall, a mission station near Johnstown, Pa.

A number of important church offices were filled by our brother. He served on the Southwestern Pennsylvania Sewing Circle Advisory Committee from its founding in 1925 to his death. He was Summer Bible School Director of the conference district from 1935 to his decease. He served with George R. Brunk and D. D. Miller on the Book Examining Committee of the Mennonite Book and Tract Society for several years. He also served on the Publishing Committee for twelve or thirteen years. In 1917 he was appointed on the Military Problems Committee to go to Washington, D.C., where the committee had conference with federal officials. He was the moderator of General Conference in 1919. He also held many other offices in the district conferences. At the time of his death, he was pastor and bishop of the Stahl congregation and the Walsall and Cambria Fuel mission stations as well as bishop of the Elton congregation.

Those who knew him well agree that Bro. Shetler was at his best when he was in the pulpit preaching the Word. He was outstanding as an energetic evangelist and preacher. In preaching he was always able to hold the attention of the audiences. His illustrations were from life and were alive with the human touch. He was always cheerful and ready to meet people, but those few of us who knew him intimately also know that many times he wept and agonized in his private devotions. Many times the condition that prevailed in individuals or among the brotherhood caused him much inward pain and sorrow. He was much concerned for the purity and welfare of the Church. Just before he passed away he called two of us, who were to follow in his pastorate, to admonish us. One of the last things he said was that we should be sure to do all we can to keep the Church in line. This was one of the last things he said before he went to enjoy the bliss of eternal life with the Father.

UNAFFILIATED MENNONITE CONGREGATIONS

The following is a list of ministers of various bodies of Mennonites who adhere to the tenets of the Confession of Faith adopted by the Mennonites at Dortrecht in 1632, but have not affiliated themselves with any of the organized conferences. If we are privileged to prepare future issues of this work, we shall be glad to add to this list as we secure information enabling us to do so.
